

DISABILITY LESOTHO

From the Editor

Dear Partner,

Welcome once again to the twenty-ninth edition of Disability Lesotho, the monthly email newsletter from Lesotho National Federation of the Disabled. This newsletter will cover news for October, 2014

This e-newsletter is a platform whereby partners in the disability sector share the good work they do and learn from the work of others. This includes news, events, updates, activities and all issues affecting people with disability in Lesotho. We therefore welcome contributions of any nature from all organizations working to improve the lives of people in Lesotho, including those with disability.

Looking how things are happening towards people with disabilities, I am very disappointed in the government of Lesotho. All the promises are on paper or in the office but there is no change. People with disabilities are continuing to suffer; there are no opportunities to jobs.

It is very sad because even during the time there is opportunity of a certain job; people with disabilities are still left behind, they are not even given opportunity to prove themselves.

There is no provision of orthopedic services; this means there is still a problem from Ministry of Social Development to get help. Nobody is saying anything about how people with disabilities in this country are suffering. Policies and plans towards disability are not going anywhere due to political instability in Lesotho.

I plea to PWDs in this country to work hard and find out from the Independent Electoral Commission whether the polling stations for the coming election will be accessible. It is now time for action, let us face the reality and meet people in charge and make things clear to our side.

If you would like to contribute to the next issue or have received this newsletter from a third party and wish to be included on the mailing list please contact Pascalina Letsau on (+266) 5905 5406 or pletsau@gmail.com

If missed any edition please visit www.infod.org.ls

We welcome any feedback that may improve the quality and content of this free service.

Best regards,

The Editor

DIRECTOR'S CORNER

Let us all celebrate the 3rd December

By: Sefuthi Nkhasi

Lesotho disability movement in close collaboration with the government of Lesotho, local, and international organisations based in Lesotho will commemorate the International day of persons with disabilities on the 3 December 2014, in the district of Qacha's Nek under the theme "sustainable development: the promise of technology"

Her Majesty the Queen of Lesotho, in her capacity as the Patron of LNFOD will deliver the keynote address. The special guests includes but are not limited to; The right Honourable the Prime Minister, Minister of Social Development and the minister of Communication, Science and Technology.

People with disabilities who are interested to join the celebrations in the host district are encouraged to register their names at the DPOS offices in Maseru. However, those from Mafeteng, Mohale's Hoek, and Quthing are encouraged to register with M30 at the social development district offices.

People with disabilities from other districts not mentioned here can attend the event at their own costs.

LNFOD is encouraging the residents of Qach's nek to attend the event in commemoration of this unique day that will be celebrated in their district

Throughout human history, technology has always impacted the way people live. The Industrial Revolution ushered in a new age of technology that raised the standards of living of people around the world and their access to goods and services. Today, technology is built in to every facet of daily living. The emergence of information and communications technologies have dramatically increased connectivity between people and their access to information, and further raised living standards.

ICTs have indeed changed the way people live, work and play. However, not all people benefit from the advances of technology and the higher standards of living. This is mainly because not all people have access to new technologies and not all people can afford them.

Today, there are over 1 billion people living in the world with some form of disability. In Lesotho, it is estimated that, around 4% of the total population live with some form of disability. Around the world, persons with disabilities not only face physical barriers but also social, economic and attitudinal barriers. Furthermore, disability is associated with twenty per cent of global poverty, of which the majority live in developing countries. In spite of being the world's largest minority group, persons with disabilities and the issue of disability has remained largely invisible in the mainstream development frameworks and its processes.

Since 1992, the annual observance of the International Day of Disabled Persons aims to promote an understanding of disability issues and mobilize support for the dignity, rights and well-being of persons with disabilities. It also seeks to increase awareness of gains to be derived from the integration of persons with disabilities in every aspect of political, social, economic and cultural life.

The observance of this year's International Day of Persons with Disabilities (IDPD) provides an opportunity to further raise awareness of disability as a cross-cutting development issue. The theme of this year's commemoration, "Sustainable Development: The promise of technology" is timely, as it marks the conclusion of the period of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGS) in 2015 and the launching of the new development framework of sustainable development goals (SDGs).

The 2014 commemoration of IDPD will work to harness the power of technology to promote inclusion and accessibility to help realize the full and equal participation of persons with disabilities in society and shape the future of sustainable development for all!

Three sub-themes chosen will focus on the promise of technology in:

- Disability-Inclusive Sustainable Development Goals
- Disaster Risk Reduction and Emergency Responses
- Creating Enabling Work Environments

LNFOOD holds a guest Lecture for students of the Lesotho College of education

By: Maja Matsoha

The realization of inclusive education for learners with disabilities in Lesotho is still facing many challenges, amongst them the lack of and National Inclusive Education Policy that would ensure uniformity of approach towards inclusive education. One of the many challenges is the lack of sensitization on the rights of persons with disabilities and the continuing discrimination faced by persons with disabilities. The lack of assistive services, devices and technology needed for learning by learners with disabilities is also another major challenge.

In order to sensitize teachers in training on disability rights LNFOOD held a guest Lecture Series at the Lesotho College of education coordinated by the Department of Special Education on 12 September 2014. Over 500 students of the college together with lecturers attended the Lecture from various departments within the college and the Dean of Social Sciences.

Representatives from LNFOOD and Disabled Persons Organizations namely, IDAL, LNLVIP, NADL, LNAPD were also present to address questions raised by students on disability rights and challenges faced by persons with disabilities in accessing education.

The main presentation delivered by Executive Board Member LNFOOD Mr. Sam Letima covered the background of disability in Lesotho, which highlighted the attitudinal and structural barriers faced by persons with disabilities. The presentation then covered the concept of inclusive education as well as the models of approaches towards disability and challenges faced by learners with disabilities in Lesotho.

Some of the questions raised by students were:

1. Referrals: where should I refer a learner with disabilities who I suspect is being sexually abused

2. Assistive devices: what do I do when a learner with disability is unable to reach their full learning potential due to the lack of assistive devices which government is not providing?

3. Protective laws: are there any protective laws nationally to protect persons with disability from the various forms of discrimination faced.

4. Some schools infrastructure is inaccessible for learners with disability how can they access education inclusively unless such infrastructure is changed?

Social protection for People with Disabilities:

By: Seabata Lengosane

To the best of my recollection, Lesotho ratified the UN CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES on the 3 December 2008.

I still remember that, the purpose of this Convention is to promote, protect and ensure the fundamental human rights of people with disabilities in the world.

People with disabilities living in Lesotho were anticipating their government to change their lives tremendously as it was internationally obliged by the Convention to do so.

However, people with disabilities continue to face serious inequalities in terms of access to education, employment opportunities, access to healthcare services and other basic social services.

First, Lesotho was to enact disability specific legislation as the means through which the disability convention would be domesticated in Lesotho. As a member of disability movement of Lesotho, I know that, our government has been too much reluctant in terms of realising the rights of people with disabilities.

For example, the National Disability and Rehabilitation Policy adopted in 2011 remains a white elephant with no guidelines for implementation.

To date, Lesotho does not have the disability specific legislation which was to be done in 2008. Since then, People with disabilities and their representative's organisations have been awaiting the disability legislation. Nevertheless, excuses and postponements of when the act will be in place are keeping on bouncing back to the people with disabilities.

The current minister of Social Development always uttered the words of support to people with disabilities. However, nothing tangible is happening for people with disabilities on the ground. The current minister has been going around the country telling people with disabilities to form self-help groups on the pretext that, they will be financed by the ministry of Social Development

Unfortunately, the ministry later announced that, they were no longer going to support the self-help groups of people with disabilities because the funds were no more.

I recently learned that, the government of Lesotho has adopted the Social Protection Strategy that among others approves the provision of disability grant. I am eagerly waiting to see whether the government will fulfill this strategy.

Leadership training workshop to members of DPO Branch Committees

Participants during the training listening to Mr. Masenyetse

On the 30th – 31st October, at Mashaleng Community Council in the District of Mophale'shoek, member affiliates LNFOD namely; IDAL, LNLVIP, Lesotho National Association of the Physically Disabled (LNAPD) and National Association of the Deaf Lesotho (NADL) held a 2 – day training on leadership for DPO Leaders. Within all these participants there was 'M'e 'Matseli Manosa, who is a member of planning committee and a representative of women and children with disabilities in the council.

The objective of the training is to help each other on self-awareness and esteem to committee members. Leaders should be equipped in order to be self – reliant and have confidence; now Organisational Development planned this activity, as it is LNFOD's task to support and empower its members with life-skills.

Mr. Masenyetse from LNLVIP was the opening session whereby talked about self-awareness and esteem. The session was done in pairs but everyone has presented, this session was the icebreaker to the participants. Masenyetse stressed that participants should know themselves better so that they could be respected, as they will be working with many people.

The followed session was on Advocacy skills and challenges of advocacy at community levels and facilitated by Miss Selloane Pitso from IDAL. She started by asking the question like; what is advocacy? This question answered by participants showing that we can do advocacy in many different ways; it is only depending on what circumstances of the issue. So, as people with disabilities we have to do advocacy for ourselves as we face some barriers. The session continued by group works where participants imitated challenges facing people who are doing advocacy work. There were some challenges that the participants learned like; time management and ways of presenting the issue before the service provider, we may find someone who has some difficulties of his / her own. This person can be insensitive to you, what you have to do is; do not ever do what the officer has started but be modest.

Mrs. Likopo Lesoetsa facilitated the subject of Communication skills. She wanted to know what communication is from the participants. She continued saying communication is the way of passing the message to someone.

There are three ways of how communication is being done meaning; 1. Method – Interpreting, radios, mobile phones and social media. 2. Reasons of communication – Opinions, to ask for something like food or water. 3. Opportunity – do you have any opportunity to seek for service provision, opportunity to have information about what is happening within the community that you are living in? It is important to remove all the barriers that are affecting a good communication, use the easy language and clear to the point to a person, you are talking to.

We need support from other people when doing advocacy work. This means; our neighbours, friends, service providers and local authorities should firstly know what are our concerns / issues to demand.

The session followed was on good governance and Mrs. 'Malebohang Malakane from LNAPD facilitated the mandate of LNFOD and the structure. Her task was to elaborate more about LNFOD and its member affiliates.

One participant who is visually impaired Mr. Marumo said; "I am very happy to have this type of the training as we are now going to be able to do our work. It is now going to be easy as we will use all the techniques and skills we have acquired."

Problem solving skills is another topic we touched. Accountability is a key of solving problems. Every person in the committee should do the role smoothly and account to the committee at large, so to avoid conflicts.

Mrs 'Matseli Manosa a local councilor at Mashaleng community council stated her gratitude to LNFOD for training people with disabilities at Mashaleng community council. "This was a very good training as it will change lives of people with disabilities. We are now going to start because it will be easy for me to raise or advocate for people with disabilities within the council. I would like to avail myself at any activity that will benefit people with disabilities. I real thank you and LNFOD as large for the good job." Concluded Mrs. Manosa

The same training continued at Kanana Community Council in the Berea District on the 4th – 5th November. The challenge that was there at Kanana was that the attendance was too low compared to the previous training. The other difficult was the rain which was too high on the day. Other DPOs like NADL and IDAL the committee members were not elected as there were no representatives that could allow the association to elect the committee. Even though the activity was very nice as the participants were able to talk and asking questions about disability and the organizations. There also songs performed by the participants.

During the presentation about communications, it is where the participants showed that there are some social media like whats – up, twitter, newspapers and letters to use in order to pass messages. Communication can be between more than two people.

Difficulties of not having health services in time

Monkhe who is struggling to have his leg back

By: Pascalina Letsau

Monkhe Phelane is a Mosotho man aged 32. He is wearing a blanket not because it is cold but only because he is from Mafeteng in the village called Bolumatau. The Mafeteng people well known of wearing blankets.

Phelane has been amputated and using artificial leg. He was once a trainee at Itjareng Vocational Training in the years of 2007– 2008. He trained on woodwork and joinery. “I am now not doing what I was learning at Itjareng due to financial constraints and because equipments and materials for woodwork are very expensive.” said Monkhe

“I think the idea of establishing centres like Itjareng and other institutions like lthuseng were good but the problem is; most of us if it is not all of us are not doing what we have learnt. I think that is where the problem is. As I have said, I am now focusing on agriculture like planting trees and vegetables that I think they are doing that much for my life.

“I am earning the life through social grant that is amounting to M250 per month. It is not covering the needs that I have. Since July this year my artificial leg gave me hardship up until now. I have to travel a long from Mafeteng to Maseru to fix my leg. This means I have to use a lot of money and if do not have it my life is in danger. This also means it can take me a year to two years without a leg. For all these problems, I put the blame to the government of Lesotho especially ministry of health as I think to have artificial leg is part of health.” Said Phelane

People that are facing physical challenges those are getting services at orthopedic are real in danger I this country as there is nobody hearing our voice. The orthopedic workshop within the government is always not having materials to fix assistive devices. The situation itself is denying health right to people with physical disabilities. People who are taking responsible to run this department are not ready to support issues of disability.

The question is; ‘does the orthopedic run by ministry of health or social development? we are really frustrated as people with disabilities.’

This question is brought after realizing that nobody is read to tell us when we have questions about the department. The condition is making people with physical disability helpless and losing their dignity without assistive devices the people with physical disabilities are relying on. There is nothing to continue without having these equipments there is no easy life, as they are important to their life but nobody cares.

“We are struggling to have services at this department as there are no materials. I wonder why the government of Lesotho if is not qualifying to provide these services not leaving it to someone. We are tired of suffering as PWDs, the department was closed for a long time not thinking that people with disabilities are in need of the service. May the Almighty God save Lesotho and give us someone who will care about PWDs or be in a position to let PWDs participate fully in the development and planning for this country.” concluded Monkhe

Veronica Baloyi – a wheelchair – user and a motivational speaker

I am Veronica Baloyi based in Gauteng Pretoria in a suburb called Soshanguve in South Africa.

I am now a wheelchair – user. In 1996, I had a terrible accident. I was pushed from the sixth floor in a flat as six men kidnapped me. I was rushed to the hospital and diagnosed permanent paraplegia. I was rehabilitated for eight Months as I undergone 10 surgeries. I also told that I will not conceive but today I am having two daughters Letlhogonolo and Lindokuhle Boloyi.

With my disability, I managed to go back to school, completed my matric, and awarded a bursary to further my studies. I am now working for Transnet Rail Engineering as a Logistic Manager.

My exposure to the media was a true blessing as I am now an Ambassador for Ottoblock South Africa.

As I realized that, my disability was a blessing in disguise I decided to become a Motivational Speaker, as I like to mentor and empower my fellow brothers and sisters with disabilities.

Media exposure:

1. Scanto lovelife program
2. Felicia show,
3. Spirit Suldae,
4. Several magazines
 - Drum magazine
 - Ngove magazine
 - City Press newspaper
 - Daily sun
 - Rolling Inspiration

In September this year, awarded an award for South African Disability Woman Tribute Award because was elected as the lead the Transnet Employment Equity inside and outside.

“I would like to encourage all my fellow brothers and sister in Lesotho that are challenged physical and emotional that we must have faith in ourselves. Let us do more on everything that we are doing. Remember that; ‘disability is not inability.’ I am happy because from today in Lesotho can see huge change that is going to benefit us all. The leaders of this country always remember our slogan that says; ‘Nothing is about us without us’, this means people with disabilities should participate fully in matters that affects them.” concluded Veronica.

Elite athletics with disability (EAD)

By: Pascalina Letsau

The event was organized by PAVE for Gender Equality – Moafrika FM and CTM Orthopedic Workshop. It was on the 1st November at 'Mabathoana grounds. The Sport Commission of Lesotho also took a lead to support sports to people with disabilities in this country. There were also representatives from Ottoblock South Africa. The government of Lesotho by the Prime Minister of Lesotho and his Partner supported the event. The event was also covered by media as Lesotho Television and Lesotho News Agency (LENA) which is giving out news to Independent Media Houses like Radio stations and newspapers.

The institutions of people with disabilities were invited to participate in these sports. Morapeli Girls with Physical disabilities Centre, St. Bernadette Resource Centre for the Blind, Phelisanong, Itjareng Vocational Training Centre and Ithuseng Vocational and Rehabilitation Centre and individuals with disabilities from all over the districts of Lesotho.

The sports that were to be played were; Table – tennis, football, netball, chess, athletics and Sesotho games like; Liketoana, Moraba – raba, Litolobonya and many more. Like I said; there were people from South Africa attended the event, Mrs. Veronica Baloyi – a wheelchair – user and a motivational speaker made her speech. She also talked to many individuals with disabilities and asked some questions like; 'do people with disabilities getting grant. When talking to the interviewer she continued asking this question; 'if people with disabilities are doing voluntary work are they paid or what? If not; how do they survive because we all know that they are the most vulnerable people in the World?' asked Mrs. Baloyi.

Nkhono 'Mammopa Phae elaborated more on issues of disabilities. She has been involved in disabilities for a long time since she was working in the Ministry of Education and Training under department of Special Education Unit. She is still continuing to raise awareness on issues of disability at Moafrika FM and going for outreach in order find out their needs on education, health, rehabilitation, assistive devices and livelihood.

The Hon. Prime Minister Dr. Thomas Motsoahae Thabane also addressed people. He showed his pleasant of being within the assemblage of disability. "I am not here only because I was invited but because it is the group that I love with all my heart. Some of you know that I have been telling that in my house I have a child who is disabled." said Thabane.

Hon. Prime Minister addressing PWDs during the event.

He continued saying; 'It's been a long time that we see people suffering. I think within the short time that I am given to rule this country; I want to make change to people with disabilities before I could step down. It will be up to someone who will be my successor to change those plans. I have opened the office by the name of Special Projects that is run by my wife. My intention for opening this office is to make sure that people with disabilities are helped in this office, if my wife cannot do so, she would have disappointed me a lot.' said the Prime Minister.

The activity was an eye – opener to the sports commission and government of Lesotho through the ministry of sports that it is a need to people with disabilities to be catered for. There is a need to people with disabilities to play, as it is another way of exercising to their bodies. This means there should be sport wheelchairs, accessible sporting equipments and grounds. We have a high hope that things will change to the better when looking at sports in relating to disabilities. The event postponed due to heavy rains that day.

GBV stakeholders' meeting – Maseru

By: 'Malebohang Malakane

On the 9th – 14th October LNFOF women's Forum attended follow – up meeting on Gender Based Violence Steering Committee held at Lehakoe Recreational Club. The delegates were 'Malebohang Malakane who is a secretary for the forum. The meeting was for different stakeholders that collaborate in fight against GBV. The international and local organizations, local authorities participated in this meeting.

The meeting agreed that there should be established a steering committee as a driving body to strengthen and enhance the efforts and activities of stakeholders in the country, the reason being the prevention of and response to GBV. All these institutions should be capacitated so that organizations could be self care, the stakeholders should be in a position to prepare and consolidate a plan of action for each year in a coordinated manner, ensuring coordination with other gender groups, human rights and Gender Technical Committee (GTC)

The meeting thought of development of strategic partnership with trusted advocacy organizations and journalists. In addition we spoke about supporting each other in advocacy at all levels through community mobilization, supporting each other in behavior change and at all develop IEC materials. The development of implementing and monitoring, the referral pathway to ensure the referral systems focusing on providing prompt and appropriate services to GBV survivors including HIV related services.

The collaboration will also raise awareness to people by conducting trainings workshops on GBV for members of the working group to increase knowledge based on GBV, distribution of regular and consistent reports to all stakeholders to keep them informed about the nature and extent of GBV and who it is being addressed.

As the follow – up for the meeting immediately on the 22nd October, the training on GBV was held to women with physical disabilities at their office. The training was held by Gender including Khotla Lesotho. Khotla Lesotho is a group of Basotho men who are willing to support gender issues. People with disabilities were trained on their responsibility in their life, what causes abuse, how to report abuse and at what time, places to report to like; neighbours, chief, police stations. Ways of preventing abuses in the family and treatment of HIV and AIDS. The activity was knowledgeable to people with disabilities to advocate for their rights and protect themselves from the perpetrators.

The training workshop was too short as it took only a day, so there was no time for questions and comments. This means there is a need for this association to have this type of training. This does not mean only to people with physical disability only but for other people with disabilities.

OPINION PIECE

When will member states take action?

By: Likopo Lesoetsa

Women and girls with disabilities are left behind when coming to issues of technology especially in the continent of Africa. There is lack of basic literacy and computer skills needed to enter into new professions for them. It is the responsibility of the nation to see to it that women and girls are trained in all these new technologies. I am worried about the way women and girls are vulnerable to information.

Women and girls with disabilities are facing discrimination, which is three-fold due to disability, being women and poverty. They are also discriminated in employment because they lack literacy. Since I realized this discrimination against women and girls, I only know them as people who used to sew dresses, uniforms and they become self – employed not employed. People are thinking that women and girls with disabilities cannot do other duties like working in the office of the Prime Minister/ President as a private secretary or any duty.

The specific measures be taken to prevent discrimination against women with disabilities in employment based on marriage, maternity and reproductive right. Women are still facing challenges in healthcare services. Women with disabilities are still harassed if they need to know about their bodies and reproductive right.

I would like to share in particular acclaimed UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and how Women and Girls with Disabilities affected by the Gender-Based Violence and whether the Laws and Policies are inclusive of Disabilities. We have to work hard to eradicate injustice for girls and women with disabilities. The highest violence that target WWD is sexual and emotional abuse but there are no cases laid against perpetrators.

I think it is high time that member states especially the Mountain Kingdom think twice when doing their plans and programmes to include issues of disability. Most UN member states have signed and ratified the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities. This means Lesotho is not exception to that, with this I wonder when will the government of Lesotho protect and support people with disabilities. In this UN document, which Lesotho became a signatory in 2008, there is article 6, which is specifically focusing to women with disabilities, and how the State will tackle their issues. There is vision 2020 strategy in Lesotho, which women and men with disabilities are closely looking at its implementation. We also look at the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and 50/50 Gender Equity 2015. Both of them hopefully have issues of disabilities that should be reached by the specific targeted time. Can we reach all these targets without having the participation of Persons with Disabilities?

It is very sad to see girls and women with disabilities not accessing services like education, employment, information and technology, healthcare, protection under law and political right. Our decision makers, policy makers are quiet about all challenges that we are facing. I think it is now high time for women with disabilities in Africa to make noise and voice out for our rights, the World is ours and as we are also citizens, we have to get all benefits that everyone is getting in our respective countries.

SPOTLIGHT

'M'e 'Mat'sele Manosa – aged 60 Local Councilor at Mashaleng Community Council
